The premier national publication for the automotive industry (circulation 9,500 +)

About us

Australasian Automotive is the premier national publication for the automotive industry and is the official magazine of the Victorian Automotive Chamber of Commerce (VACC). Australia's automotive retail, service and repair sectors produce $37.1 billion in business. Decision-makers and professionals in this industry turn to Australasian Automotive for the latest news, analysis, reviews and technical information. The industry-based magazine reaches more industry professionals – technicians, body repairers, new and used vehicle dealers and specialists in every other automotive field – than any other automotive industry publication across every state and territory. Australasian Automotive is directly mailed to business owners, dealer principals, service managers, operations managers and finance directors in the automotive and transport industries, and is available online via the VACC website. Make Australasian Automotive work for you and reach more of the right industry people across Australasia.
