Launch of NHVR Registration Checker App

Dear Members

The National Heavy Vehicle Regulator (NHVR) has recently launched its Registration Checker app, a tool designed to enable a quick and easy check of the registration status of any heavy vehicle registered in Australia (with the exception of vehicles registered in the Northern Territory).

The regulator experienced a high number of enquiries from industry related to the removal of registration labels and the introduction of the new national heavy vehicle number plate. Other enquiries related to registration checks by drivers and others in the Chain of Responsibility.

According to NHVR, the Registration Checker app, along with existing jurisdictional registration checker websites/apps, should make it easier for registration checks to be undertaken by drivers, consigners and others in the chain.

You can download the app by searching for 'NHVR' in the App Store or Google Play Store, or use the links below:

The following fact sheet provides a brief overview of using the app: How to check your registration details

Please note you should direct queries about registration details to the relevant state or territory transport authority.
