Heavy Vehicle National Law

In May 2018 transport ministers agreed to bring forward a Nation Transport Commission-led review of the Heavy Vehicle National Law (HVNL).

Since June, the NTC project team has met with government and industry stakeholders around Australia to develop the terms of reference for the review.

In November 2018 transport ministers approved the terms of reference. They also appointed a panel of experts with expertise in productivity and experience across the transport sector to guide the review.

The expert panel will be chaired by Peter Harris, the recent chairman of the Productivity Commission.

The expert panel comprises:

Sharon Middleton	Director, Whiteline Transport and President, South Australian Road Transport Association
Andrew Ethell	Executive Director, Amalgam Strategic and Board Member, Infrastructure Australia
Gary Mahon	Chief Executive Officer, Queensland Trucking Association
Gary Liddle	Enterprise Professor of Transport, Melbourne University and Senior Strategic Adviser, Transport, Jacobs
Louise Bilato	Executive Officer, NT Road Transport Association

Next steps

The NTC met with the expert panel at the end of January 2019 and will provide more information on how the review will be conducted thereafter.

VACC will ensure members contributions are considered and influence the content of subsequent regulations and business rules which may also be developed by regulators post review.
