

National Electric Vehicle Strategy

Dear Member

As part of its election commitment, the Federal Government has released a consultation paper- the National Electric Vehicle Strategy - that seeks stakeholder views on how the supply and uptake of electric vehicles (EVs) can be increased in Australia. The paper can be viewed via the following link: <https://consult.industry.gov.au/national-electric-vehicle-strategy>

This may be one of the most important consultations that will affect our industry in modern times.

VACC will be providing a submission in response to the strategy paper (due 31 October), and is seeking member input via two methods:

- a very short member survey; and,
- an online, members only forum.

Member survey

VACC is seeking member's initial feedback via a very short survey (5 questions) and should take no longer than five minutes to complete. This will contribute to VACC's formal submission.

Members can access the survey HERE

The survey will close Tuesday 11 October COB.

Online member forum

Supplementary to the survey, members are invited to attend an online forum to share your views.

This will be held on Tuesday 11 October 2022 at 10am – 11am EST via ZOOM.

Members can register for this forum HERE

There is no denying that electrification of our vehicle fleet is inevitable, and that the pace of this transition will increase significantly in the coming years. We have an opportunity, however, to help shape this transition and to ensure that it occurs as smoothly as possible for our industry.

We strongly encourage you to participate in the member survey and provide your input that will help inform VACC's submission.

On behalf of the VACC policy team, we thank you in advance for your participation.

Steve Bletsos
Senior Research Analyst